The present Meeting House was probably built in 1708 of native limestone, in the Colonial style. In 1780, the eastern wing was added to be used as a school, and to replace the original log cabin school on the premises.

In 1867, the interior was damaged by fire but the original walls remained sound and the interior was rebuilt pretty much as the original. At this time a porch was added across the entire front of the building.

In 1945, another wing was added to the rear of the building, "A which is now used as a social room.
